SCNA OBJECTIVE

SCNA is dedicated to the promotion and advancement of numismatics in all its dimensions...convinced that the hobby has great potential for enriching lives of those who earnestly seek its gifts. Our principal means for this is the SCANNER, the official publication, sponsored awards which seek to promote and reward excellence in many areas of hobby activity; and the annual Convention...which provides without charge to the collector, investor and general public...South Carolina's best program of numismatic education and services and the finest opportunity for buying and selling numismatic items.

Editor's Note

Hello and please let me introduce myself. My name is Erik Larsen and I am the new Editor of the SCanner, the official publication of the South Carolina Numismatic Association. I am taking over for Ms. Helen Berry after her excellent stewardship the past four years. They will be difficult shoes to fill, indeed. I intend to keep up the high-quality work that Helen has produced and hope to increase my own and members' knowledge in numismatics through this medium. The SCanner will continue to keep you up-to-date on the latest schedule of coin shows throughout South Carolina and surrounding area, including the 35th SCNA Convention, October 26th through 28th, 2007 once again at the Embassy Suites in Greenville. Also of note is the American Numismatic Association's National Money Show in Charlotte, NC coming up this March 16-18, 2006. This show was originally scheduled for Sacramento, CA but was moved to accommodate another show in Baltimore, MD. This show will be the largest show in the region and is being co-sponsored by the SCNA.

The SCanner will also be your source for information on what is going on with YN's in South Carolina. The future of coin and paper money collecting starts with the SCNA's YN program. Furthermore, information on what SCNA's Member Clubs are up to including locations and times they meet.

This issue of the SCanner features an article on the new Presidential Dollars that will hit circulation in 2007, written by SCNA Secretary Pascal Brock. If you have written (or know of) any interesting articles in the world of numismatics, please feel free to forward them to the editor for publication.

I look forward to continuing the high quality publication of the SCanner three times a year. Please feel free to send your comments, ideas, articles, and feedback to me at Larsen770@aol.com or mail to P.O. Box 505, Charleston, SC 29402-0505.

President's Message

Greetings fellow collectors and SCNA members,

The October SCNA Annual Convention has come to pass. Attendance was strong and the collectors and dealers I spoke to agree the convention was a success. There were multiple exhibits by young numismatists that were very well done. Many collectors were able to add items to their collections. I was able to add a nice piece of South Carolina scrip and upgrade several notes in my collection. If you were unable to attend the SCNA convention in 2006, I encourage you to attend in 2007.

The 2007 Spring ANA Convention in Charlotte is rapidly approaching. The dates are March 16-18, 2007. The December ANA publication "The Numismatist" includes two pages of information about the show. There are 6 pre-convention seminars and several workshops during the convention to choose from. Tours of the Charlotte branch of the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond and the Reed Gold Mine are scheduled. Heritage Galleries and Auctioneers will conduct a major auction. This is shaping up to be a great show. Additional information can be found on the ANA web site at www.money.org and the SCNA web site at scnumismaticassociation.com.

I have received several auction catalogs in the mail this week. There is a lot of great numismatic material available in the market. Unfortunately, prices have risen significantly over the past 10 years. As I see it, the current market is a tradeoff. Ten years ago, prices were lower, but you saw the same numismatic material over and over in a dealer's inventory. Any top quality coins and paper money that came on the market disappeared immediately. The great material is there now, you just have to "stretch" to get it. Time will tell if we have something of a bubble in the numismatic market or if prices will continue to rise. I believe the value of numismatic items will be influenced significantly by the direction of the US economy and the true value of the US dollar. The high cost of oil has not had as large an impact on the economy as many experts predicted and the economy seems to be relatively stable at the moment. We will see how this story unfolds. In the mean time, I will enjoy this great hobby and add items to my collection as I am able.

Best Wishes

Eric Lampe

It is a pleasure to welcome the latest additions to our SCNA family and we thank you for your support. We trust that your association with the SCNA will be a rewarding and educational experience for years to come!

SCNA 34th Annual Convention Wrap-Up

by Tom Skilton

34th Annual SCNA Convention Comes to a Close

The 34th Annual SCNA Coin Show and Convention came to a close at 3PM on Sunday, October 29th at the Embassy Suites in Greenville, SC. By then, between 600 and 800 people had attended the show over the three days of its run (Fri-Sat-Sun). Seventy-three bourse tables had been rented to dealers from as far away as Illinois and Louisiana. At least 11 states were represented; dealers from Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Alabama were also in attendance. Activity on the bourse floor never seemed to let up. Most dealers reported good retail business; some even stated that they had their best show ever in South Carolina.

There were several nice numismatic exhibits on display. The winners are listed on Page 8. There were also three educational programs on Saturday. SCNA Secretary Pascal Brock hosted the Young Numismatist's Program; Arno Safran presented a wonderful slide show on early US coinage; and Bob Moon gave a talk on paper money collecting at a meeting of the Society of Paper Money Collectors.

Next year's convention will be held at the same location (Embassy Suites in Greenville) on the last weekend in October (Friday the 26th to Sunday the 28th). This will be our organization's 35th annual show and we plan to make it special. Please mark your calendars now and check back in future editions of the SCanner for details. Also, please remember that the SCNA is a co-sponsor of the ANA National Money Show in Charlotte, NC on March 16, 17, and 18, 2007. See elsewhere in this issue for more information.

Presidential Dollars

Collectors will have a new series of circulating coins to collect starting in 2007. The Presidential Dollar Coin Act (Public Law 109-145) changes the design of dollar coin by honoring the Nation's Presidents with their image on the coin. The coins will be released four per year in the order that they served as President beginning February 15, 2007 with President Washington just in time for Presidents Day. President Adams will follow this issue in May, in August by President Jefferson and in November by President Madison. New Presidential $1 Coins will be issued quarterly through at least 2016, in the order in which the presidents served. The reverse of each coin will feature a rendition of the Statue of Liberty and the $1 denomination. The composition and color of the coins will be identical to that of the Sacagawea Golden Dollar. The coin features an edge-incused inscription of the year of minting or issuance, "E. Pluribus Unum," "In God We Trust" and the mintmark. "Liberty" will not appear because the Statue of Liberty is considered a substitute.

The Presidential $1 Coin Act ensures that an adequate supply of $1 are available for commerce and collectors. Federal agencies, entities that operate any business on Federal property, the United States Postal Service, and certain transit systems must be fully capable of accepting and dispensing $1 coins and are to display signs and notices of this capability. The law also requires the Director of the United States Mint to work closely with consumer groups, media outlets, and schools to increase public awareness about the inauguration of the Presidential $1 Coin Program and the availability of the $1 coin.

The United States Mint will have $1 coins at Federal Reserve locations and financial institutions across the country in advance of the release date to allow commercial banks the opportunity to have coins available for customers on the release date. It will also build relationships with entities that use $1 coins in daily transactions (such as retailers); coin operator/vending companies; coin dealers and collectors; and other Federal Government agencies. This should ensure that adequate supplies of the $1 coins are available for collectors and commercial instructions.

The Act also honors the First Spouses by issuing an uncirculated and proof one-half ounce 24-karat gold $10 coin with the likeness of the spouse of each President during his term of service. These coins will be released under the same yearly schedule as their corresponding Presidential $1 coins. The obverse will bear an image of the First Spouse and her name. The reverse image will be symbolic of that particular First Spouse's life and work. In addition, bronze medals that bear the likenesses of these coins will be struck. The law calls for alternative designs to ensure program continuity through periods in which the President served without a spouse. The Act also calls for the production and release of 24-karat American Buffalo Gold Bullion Coins as well as a redesign of the one-cent coin in 2009 to commemorate the bicentennial of President Abraham Lincoln's birth. The series of one-cent coins will have reverse designs emblematic of four major periods of Lincoln's life.

The first four Presidential dollar coin designs were unveiled Nov. 20 in a ceremony at the Smithsonian Institution's National Portrait Gallery. National news media covered the event and the usual coin-versus-paper money debate ensued. A spot AOL poll of 7,000 said 58 percent of Americans would be willing to try the new coin.

The Presidential $1 Coin Program is modeled after 50 State Quarters[®] Program featuring a systematic rotating design that could greatly interest the American public. Americans are more likely to use and collect a $1 coin if it has an attractive, educational rotating design, according to a September 2002, Government Accountability Office (GAO) Report to Congress. The Presidential $1 Coin Program will offer an educational component from the United States Mint will offer free, downloadable lesson plans for teachers. They also will be a fun way to learn about our former presidents.

Presidential $1 Coins will be available in the United States Mint's 2007 annual coin sets.

Fast Facts about Presidential $1

- No Presidential $1 Coin may bear the image of a living former or current president. Only Presidents who have been dead for two or more years can appear.
- The Presidential $1 Coin Act calls for alternative designs to ensure continuity of the First Spouse Bullion Coin Program through periods in which the president served without a spouse. In such cases, the image on the coin's obverse must represent the concept of "Liberty" through an image represented on a U.S. coin during that president's period of service. The reverse should reflect themes of the respective president's life.
- Chester A. Arthur, the 21st President of the United States, served between September 1881, and March 1885. Arthur's wife, Ellen Lewis Herndon, died before Arthur became president. As Arthur served without a First Spouse, the Presidential $1 Coin Act outlines that his companion First Spouse coin should incorporate the name and likeness of Alice Paul, a leading strategist in the suffragist movement. Paul was instrumental in gaining women the right to vote and was born during Arthur's term.

Recently, there have been the following themes--Peace dollars, seated coins, toned coins, and 5 cent pieces (half dimes, nickels, wooden nickels, hobo nickels) etc. Members bring in these coins to the meeting to show and discuss. Occasionally, visitors who see our advertisement in the local paper and come to meetings to learn about pieces they own.

The Myrtle Beach Coin Club has no officers as such, but Ernie Turnes serves as the "front man" (running meetings, advertisements, reserving meeting rooms, etc). He can be contacted at evturnes@juno.com.

CSA & OBSOLETE NOTES ARE MY BUSINESS!!

I have been a full-time dealer in Confederate and obsolete currency for over 30 years. I've helped many collectors assemble complete CSA type sets as well as find rare varieties. I've also helped hundreds of collectors with their obsolete note interests from rare to common. My catalogs are well known in both the dealer and collector fields for their reference value. If you are a serious collector of CSA notes, bonds or obsolete bank notes, I can offer you the following:

1. Thousands of bank notes in the Confederate and obsolete areas.
2. Accurate descriptions, grading and fair prices.
3. Reliable dealings with prompt and friendly service.
4. The knowledge and research capabilities to properly attribute these notes.
5. A want list service that has helped many find notes which they could not locate.
6. Top prices when buying one note or an entire collection. If you are selling, I want to buy your notes!
7. The respect and integrity of dealings that are well known in the hobby.
8. Representation to bid for clients at major auctions.
9. Paying finder's fees on collections referred to me.
10. Appraisal services for reasonable fees.
11. Institutional and museum services for note authentication and valuations.
12. Strong cash decisions and immediate payment for your material.

If you collect, I offer my latest edition 60 page catalog for $5.00, refundable on first order. It features one of the largest CSA note inventories available, an extensive obsolete and scrip section, uncut sheets of notes, U.S. fractional notes, a Continental and colonial section and a reference book section. Whether you are buying or selling, I would be pleased to have you contact me.
